Linux System Administrator (Temporary) - Mountain View

This is a temporary role offered through WorkforceLogic.

Note the use of a vendor for this position, that way, you don't get any stock options -- but you can still get your overtime.

This position is based in Mountain View, CA

We are looking for promising System Administrators to support our growing office and server infrastructure.

Working in a demanding and fast-paced environment, you will need exceptional technical acuity and individual initiative combined with a customer focused approach. This position will focus on accessing your technical ability, project management skills, and ability to execute both individually and with a team.

This is an opportunity to show what you are capable of as well as evaluate the environment within the team and the company's atmosphere.

Responsibilities:

- Work with service owners to automate, scale, and/or implement new features for existing services.
- Evaluate and recommend new technologies that will improve the team's ability to meet the needs of the company.
- Manage assigned projects including accepting responsibility and meeting milestones in a timely manner.
- Troubleshoot problems and recommend/implement solutions.
- Write scripts.
- Write comprehensive documentation including design documents, policies and procedures.
- Effectively communicate with customers and peers.

Requirements:

- BS in Computer Science or equivalent experience.
- 2+ years experience with Linux.
- Excellent knowledge of operating systems internals, system utilities and communication protocols including TCP/IP networking.
- Working knowledge of security, web servers, NFS, MTAs.
- Ability to troubleshoot system related problems and investigate and implement solutions.
- Good programming/scripting skills (bash, perl, python).
- Excellent verbal and written skills with outstanding customer service
- Self motivated and ability to work on tasks, activities, and projects with minimum supervision.

Evaluating new technology and making recommendations on it is exempt work. I doubt this position spends 50% on such tasks.
